Kappa Alpha Theta Fraternity, founded at Indiana Asbury College (DePauw University) Greencastle, Ind., Jan. 27, 1870. The first Greek letter fraternity known among women.

Over the Desktop

I have to admit it. I was thrilled. Actress Marlo Thomas, Omicron/USC, was coming to Indianapolis to speak as part of the Junior League's American Dialogue Series, and she had agreed to do an interview for the Magazine. (See interview on page 17.)

It was exciting. I conducted the interview in a limousine enroute from the downtown Indianapolis hotel, in which Thomas had stayed, to the airport. She was as terrific as I expected. She even remained in the limo to continue talking with me after we'd arrived at the airport.

Thomas is charming, has a wonderful sense of humor, and she thinks Theta is great. She also is genuinely concerned about women. You may not agree with all her views, but you have to respect her for speaking out, with fairness and intelligence, about what she believes.

Another woman who believes in speaking out is Betty Mullins Jones, Alpha Phi Sorority. Jones, who is well-respected in the Greek community for her many contributions, wrote the article on page 27, which discusses the threat to the existence of the Greek system and what we can do to prevent its demise.

Some of Jones' advice echoes that of Thomas: Women must take care of each other. We can prevent damaging, demeaning behavior by refusing to participate, by helping one another and by respecting ourselves.

Reading Jones' article, I couldn't help recalling some of my less positive college experiences. Thankfully, none were as dramatic as those Jones cites, but they were indicative of an attitude that says it is not up to women to initiate standards of behavior.

Take, for example, the wine and spaghetti dinner I attended at a men's fraternity. It was an annual ritual at which the women at the table were asked to stand, while the men circled the table, stopping with each woman for a kiss.

Now, many would say that this seems harmless enough. That's what I tried to tell myself. But I was mortified. Although I was not the least bit prudish, I felt like a piece of chocolate in a big box of Fanny May's, just waiting to be sampled. I remember wishing I'd gone to a movie with my best friend instead of attending the dinner. I left in tears, although I don't think anyone noticed.

The problem was not so much with that particular event as it was with the attitude that prevailed. It's an attitude that is based on the unwritten, unspoken law that requires "nice and fun" college women to just go along: to keep their mouths shut (unless they have something cute to say), look pretty (but not too pretty) and bake cookies for the guys (or clean their rooms, or wash their cars).

I tried to play the game, but I was never very good at it. It never occurred to me that there was something wrong with it. I thought the problem was mine, and I still might think so if I hadn't learned to trust myself, if I hadn't had good, supportive friends, and if I hadn't married a man who values my opinions and loves me without conditions.

Have things changed on college campuses? Some would say yes. I'd like to think they have. But, despite all the talk about new attitudes, I think that more is the same than is different.

I hope that young women—women of any age—will not blame themselves when they find themselves in uncomfortable, or even potentially dangerous, situations. I hope they will initiate standards of behavior: standing up for themselves and their sisters. At the very least, I hope they will ditch the spaghetti dinners and, instead, go to the movies with their best friends.

Loyally,

Susan Holloway

Message from the President

In January and February, it was my privilege to perform Theta's initiation ceremony three weekends in a row at: Zeta Theta/California State Polytechnic University, San Luis Obispo, California; Upsilon/University of Minnesota, celebrating its centennial; and Zeta Eta/Wofford College in Spartanburg, South Carolina.

The statistics from the three weekends included completing the initiation ceremony 28 times and initiating 146 women. What a wonderful experience it was!

At the end of a long day, someone asked me how I could still do the ceremony with such feeling. My response is that the words and their meaning are so lovely, the faces of the initiates so eager, that the words come from my heart, not from my memory.

To each of us, membership in Kappa Alpha Theta has a personal and unique meaning. And it is at this time each year—as we anticipate the fall rush activities—that Theta emphasis turns toward membership.

We have a complex membership selection system, requiring participation from every segment of our membership. Collegians and their advisers set chapter priorities and hone conversational skills in preparation for rush. Alumnae rush recommendation boards make plans to process and recommend for membership qualified women from their communities. These recommendations are designed to introduce candidates to the college chapters, helping the members know more about those who arrive for the first rush parties. The selection of the new members lies entirely within the college chapters, and recommendations are the privilege of alumnae members.

Our system is not unlike that of applying for admission to a university or even renting a new apartment, for which recommendations or references are required. There is not room for all qualified candidates to be accepted, and some who are accepted may decline the invitations. The system is a good one, but its success is dependent on understanding and good communication between collegians and alumnae.

Alumnae must trust our collegians to select new members wisely. Recommendations need to be written completely, honestly and sent early to the rush recommendation boards for collegians to best identify those women who will augment their chapter profiles. Each of our college chapters is unique. Each desires and draws new members who best meld with its personality. It is this diversity that keeps us a strong national fraternity.

College women must give earnest attention to the recommendations they receive from alumnae. They should use them as the introductory tools they are intended to be.

Alumnae must understand and accept the decisions made by college chapters and continue to send recommendations whenever possible. The success of this process is directly related to the number of Theta alumnae who send unsolicited recs on potential rushees to the hometown rush rec boards.

The most important thing for both alumnae and collegians to remember is that every college woman, who desires it, should have the experience of membership in a support group. Our sister Panhellenic groups also offer sisterhood. We need to encourage daughters, granddaughters, nieces and friends to approach rush with open minds: selecting the sorority, fraternity or other campus group that best suits them.

We select our members with love and careful thought, inducting them into membership with an initiation service that is simple and lovely. More than 130,000 women have accepted membership with those same words.

All Thetas should take advantage of any opportunity to observe or participate in an initiation. And all alumnae should exercise their privilege to write voluntary recommendations for young women headed off to college. In doing so, they will have done their part in perpetuating a strong Kappa Alpha Theta membership for the next generation.

Taking Notice of the New Look

Three cheers for the "new" Magazine! It is livelier, more interesting, and better reflects the concerns of today's women. I'll look forward to receiving and reading (for the first time in years!) future issues.

Cora Brown
Beta Rho/Duke

What an impressive change has occurred within the organization in the past two years and is demonstrated by The Kappa Alpha Theta Magazine. It is now a magazine worth reading and is hard to put down once you start. I am very impressed with how the magazine has become involved in covering the issues that affect women. Even if it is controversial, I am pleased to see Kappa Alpha Theta take a position on the subject. You have used excellent graphics, a nice variety of pictures and excellent contents. My hat's off to you!

Cheryl O. Ronk
Alpha Psi/Lawrence
President, Michigan Society of Association Executives

Wow! The new look of your magazine looks great! When you go for a new look, you really go for it. I received a copy of your Winter 1988-89 issue a few weeks ago and had to write to let you know how much I really like it . . .

Michael T. Walsh
Delta Sigma Pi

The Winter issue is a classic—I can't believe I read the entire magazine. Looking forward to the arrival of the Spring issue!

Elizabeth Gorgan
Pasadena President

I can't let this opportunity go. Your magazine is 100 percent better. A year ago, I wouldn't even have bothered with a change of address.

Don't let your graphic artist go. I've been a commercial artist for 40 years and know you've got a winner.

Janet Ames Borman
Alpha/DePauw

I have enjoyed the new KAΘ magazine but I do have a suggestion—please make the title of our publication more prominent on the cover. My copy was lost in catalogs for a long time before I realized what it was. Also, the notice about Theta Talk was very hard to read. Please give us another splurge—we feel like step-children. Thanks for listening.

Ilene Lyman
Alpha Phi/Newcomb-Tulane

Editor's Note: Beginning with the Spring 1989 issue, we have enlarged the type on the cover.

Women of the '90s

This is just a short note to tell you that I enjoyed reading your Winter, 1988-89 Kappa Alpha Theta Magazine . . . I especially appreciated the Women of the '90s article. That article really hit home with me. My contemporaries and I are frequently discussing women's issues such as child care versus career opportunities.

In this day and age, it's very difficult for a woman with a college degree to balance her work life with her family life without outside help. "Having it all" or being a "Superwoman" is a cruel myth!

I hope your writing staff will continue to write more articles concerning this important issue.

Alumnae

Marilyn Van Voorhis Wendler, Alpha Gamma/Ohio State, received the 1988 Ohio Association of Historical Societies and Museums awards for best local history publication. Her book, The Foot of the Rapids: The Biography of a River Town, was released by Daring Press in June, 1988. Wendler, a former president of the Kappa Alpha Theta Toledo Alumnae Club, is a board member and vice-president of the Ohio Historical Society, serves on the board of the Maumee Valley Historical Society and teaches Ohio history at the University of Toledo. She also serves as public historian for the city of Maumee, where she was honored with the 1988 Outstanding Citizen Award in December.

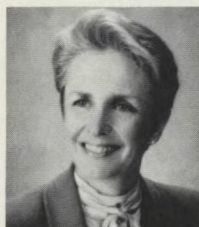

Sandra Herron, Beta/Indiana, is the new vice president of marketing for Precision Payroll in Van Nuys, Calif. Herron received the Alice Allen Brant Founders' Scholarship in 1980.

Beta Beta/Randolph-Macon alumna Ruth Hines Temple received recognition as an Alumna of Distinction at the college's reunion weekend program. A former head of the Western Kentucky University art department, Hines has had both illustrations and writings published, and WKU offers an art prize in her honor.

Merrill Lynch Realty recognized Virginia Hamilton, Delta Nu/Florida State, with status in the Leading Edge Society, the company's organization of top sellers nationwide. Often called "Mrs. Real Estate" by her peers, Hamilton has been selling real estate in Florida for more than 30 years.

Mary N. Hamilton, Omicron/Southern California, was elected president of the Glendale, Calif. Chamber of Commerce in February. Hamilton was the chamber's 1988 Woman of the Year, and has an extensive resume of community activities and leadership positions.

Mary Kaye Tillman Halferty, Gamma Rho/UC-Santa Barbara; Lisa Citron Laudeman, Beta Xi/McGill; Virginia James Dalbeck, Gamma Rho/UC-Santa Barbara; and Darrell Chulay Banta, Beta Xi/McGill, helped kick off the release of the Pasadena Junior League's cookbook, California Heritage Continues. All four women were members of the organization's cookbook marketing committee.

Cynthia Furber Cooley, Alpha Psi/Lawrence, has been honored as the 1989 Artist of the Year in Pittsburgh. Cooley displayed her work at a major exhibition at the Pittsburgh Center for the Arts in February.

Barbara S. Wynne, Tau/Northwestern, received the 1988 Touchstone Award, presented by the Girls Clubs of Greater Indianapolis in September to honor her commitment to the advancement of young women. Wynne is publisher of Indy's Child and is active in promoting tennis.

Members of the Harper College Handbell Choir have been ringing together for several years, but it wasn't until the group was touring in England that three members discovered their Theta ties. Helen Wiedemann Jantz, Alpha Tau/Cincinnati, Margot Dow Cusimano, Upsilon/Minnesota and Gwen Guernsey Carlile, Beta Iota/Colorado are all members of the choir at the community college in Palatine, Ill.

Collegians

Francoise Hartley, Delta Theta/Florida, received the school's Outstanding Female Leader recognition in December. Active in Florida Blue Key, the Office of Student Services and other campus organizations, as well as in her chapter, she has been involved with alcohol education and rape prevention. A January graduate, she will be attending law school at Florida.

Barbara Root, Beta Pi/Michigan State, was chosen one of 60 students at MSU for inclusion in the 1989 Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Students are chosen by a campus nominating committee and the directory's editors, based on academics, service, leadership and potential.

Each year the University of Arkansas Panhellenic selects one woman who displays outstanding leadership, scholarship and service as its Outstanding Greek Woman of the Year. Virginia Sessions, Delta Nu/Arkansas, received the 1988 award, and has since graduated with honors and a marketing degree.

Thetas were among those participating in American University's Washington Semester Program last fall. Back row, from left: Evelyn Stark, Epsilon Pi/Bucknell; Sharon Whalley, Epsilon Lambda/Dickinson; Katie Gibbons, Alpha Phi/Newcomb-Tulane; Louise Kirk, Pi/Albion; Anne Heller, Alpha/DePauw; Grace Fleming, Beta Omega/Colorado College. The Lexington Alumnae Chapter celebrated Founders' Day with a luncheon and program in February. Approximately 150 attended the program which included speaker Louise Roselle and recognition of Theta of the Year Roni Martin Scott.

Thetas from Delta Sigma/Ball State and the Muncie, Ind. Alumnae Club held a joint Founders' Day-initiation banquet in January. District I ADP Carol Trimmer spoke on the progress of women, and two alumnae, dressed in 1870s-era costumes, read quotations from women of that period.

The Vancouver Alumnae Club is making plans for its 30th anniversary luncheon in June. The luncheon will be hosted, as it was 30 years ago, by Florence O'Banion, and guests will wear clothing popular at that time.

Beta Zeta alumnae from Texas, Oklahoma, California and Illinois met at the Beta Zeta Chapter house at Oklahoma State for a fall 1988 Homecoming weekend. Attending were Gloria Geis Cisna, Franchelle Whiteside Howe, Marilyn Mitchell Comstock, Martha Shipe Ehrlich, Jerry Ann Lewis Dunne and Judy Dechert O'Neal.

Fort Worth alumnae and Gamma Psi Chapter at Texas Christian celebrated Founders' Day and initiation with a banquet in February, which honored 50-year Thetas and the new initiates. Guest speaker Grand Vice President Alumnae Jane Hedges talked about maintaining a commitment to Theta for a lifetime. Gamma Psi presented the Kristen Hillemeyer Award to Sara Wilson, the pledge who has best exemplified friendship to her sisters. The award is named in memory of Hillemeyer, who died in 1986.

Announcing the Theta Classic VISA

Dear Thetas:

I am proud to announce Kappa Alpha Theta's sponsorship of the Theta Classic VISA, which will provide ongoing financial support to the Fraternity with each and every purchase or cash advance.

This card stands apart from any other card you now are using because each time you charge with the Theta Classic VISA, First Tennessee Bank donates money to Theta without any additional cost to you. These funds go directly to Theta to help support our most important programs.

Contributions received from First Tennessee Bank will be used to help offset increased postage and production costs of The Kappa Alpha Theta Magazine, as well as help expand our scholarship and educational programming.

Just as important as what this card can mean for the Fraternity, it also offers outstanding value for you. I am particularly excited about the card as an opportunity to establish credit in my own name, since I have been out of the work force since the birth of my first child in 1961. I suggest all of you "employed" in the home consider this opportunity.

Whether your credit record is well established or you are just starting out, the Theta Classic VISA may be right for you.

- No annual fee first year
- Annual percentage rate of 16.5%
- Interest-free grace period each month
- Valuable travel benefits

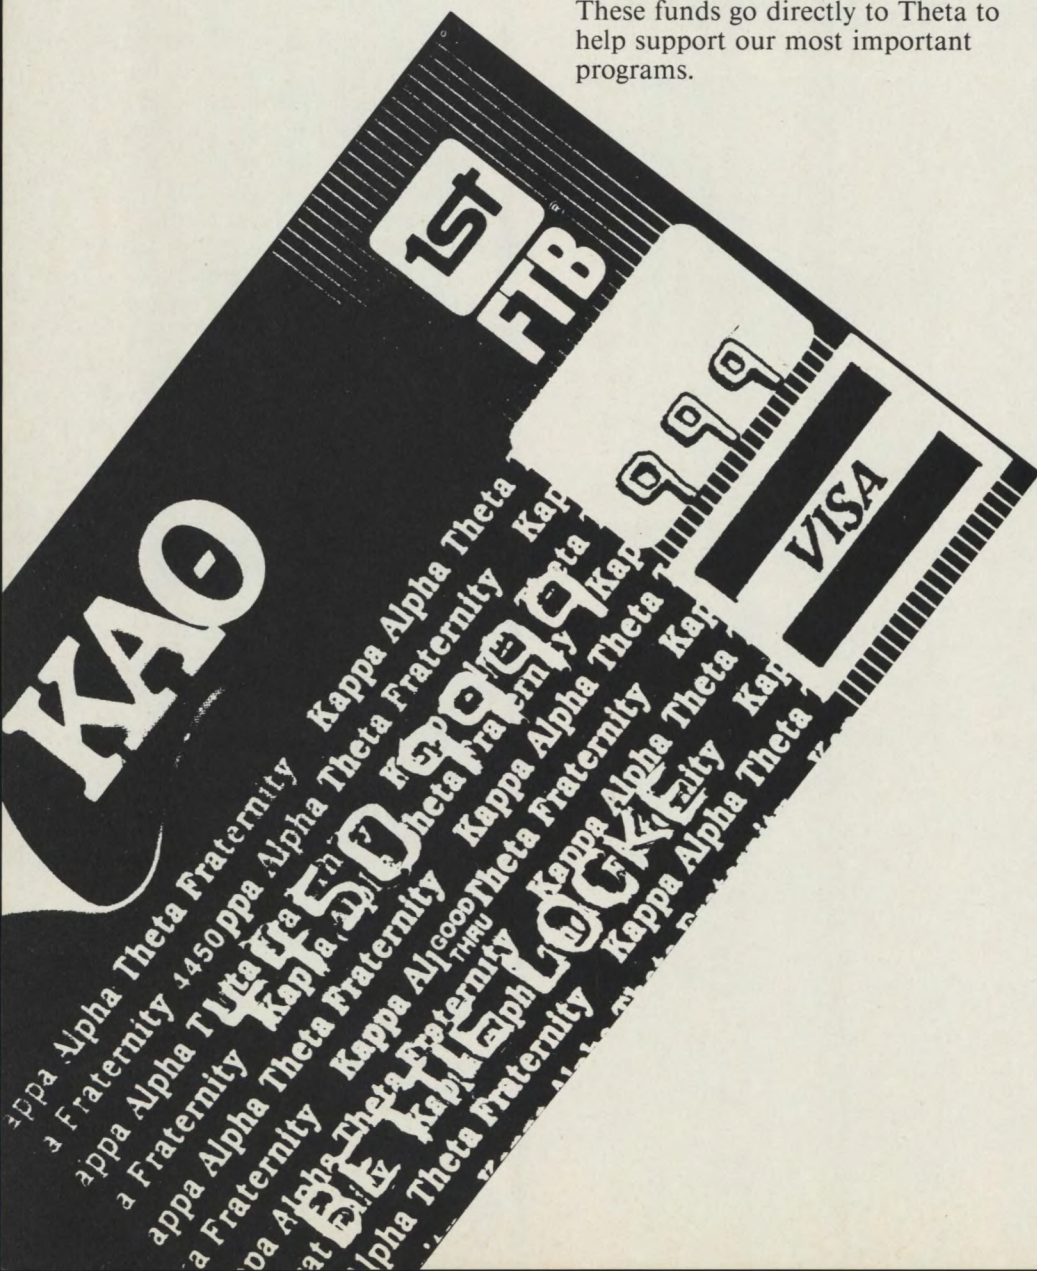

These extra benefits and special Kappa Alpha Theta design set this card apart from all other credit cards. You will find more details about the card in a brochure, which you will soon receive through the mail along with an application form. Please read it thoroughly.

I hope you will take advantage of this opportunity to apply for the Theta Classic VISA. Every time you use this card, it also works for Theta.

Upsilon Centennial Scheduled for October 28, 1989

A celebration to commemorate 100 years of Kappa Alpha Theta at the University of Minnesota is being planned for Oct. 28, 1989 in Minneapolis. (The date was incorrectly noted as Oct. 21 in the Spring issue of the Magazine.)

Anyone interested in helping with the preparations for the centennial celebration should contact: Terry Campbell Tourand at 612/931-9754, Karen Eldridge O'Rourke at 612/574-0948 or D.J. Vail at 612/699-9001.

Corrections

The date for Upsilon Chapter's centennial celebration in Minneapolis was incorrectly noted in the Spring issue of the Magazine. The correct date for the centennial is October 28, 1989.

The Magazine received and published in the Spring issue incorrect information regarding Eta Chapter at Michigan. The chapter is not currently seeking a house director.

Rush Scheduled for Theta Colonies

Kappa Alpha Theta has colonized at the University of South Carolina and the College of Charleston, and will be participating in rush this fall: August 27-30 at South Carolina; and September 24-27 at Charleston.

Please tell Theta legacies and other outstanding young women interested in going through rush at these schools to take a look at Kappa Alpha Theta.

Alumnae should send information about legacies and recommendation information to: Sue Blair-Sheets, Grand Vice-President Development, 8740 Founders Rd., Indianapolis, IN 46268.

Fraternity Seeks History Book

One of the accounts of Kappa Alpha Theta's history, Sixty Years in Kappa Alpha Theta, by Estelle Riddle Dodge, has been out of print for many years. The copies available for historical research are becoming more and more precious. If you have a copy of the book and would consider donating it to Kappa Alpha Theta's national archives, please write: Judy Alexander, Kappa Alpha Theta, 8740 Founders Rd., Indianapolis, IN 46268.

Plan A Gift.

You now know—more than you ever could as a collegian—what it means to strive to meet the higher and broader demands of mature life.

It is important that Theta continue to provide college women with the opportunity to mature into thoughtful, responsible women.

A bequest to the Foundation will help ensure that important work of our Fraternity.

Chapter Consultants

For 30 years, Theta's chapter consultants have been bringing new ideas to college chapters across the United States and Canada, and representing those chapters to the Fraternity.

I imagine a job in which you could travel the United States and Canada, meet Thetas from different college chapters, gain independence and a greater sense of responsibility — and get paid for it.

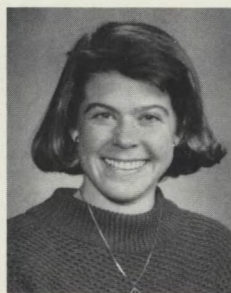

For 14 recent Theta graduates, the opportunity to work for Kappa Alpha Theta as chapter consultants was too good to pass up. They have committed the next year to working for the Fraternity: bringing new ideas to college chapters and representing those chapters' interests and concerns to Grand Council.

Chapter consultants act as liaisons between the national Fraternity and Theta's college chapters, a role that is vital in maintaining the channels of communication between the two. "The chapter consultant position is like no other in the Fraternity," says Central Office Director of Chapter Services Betsy Sierk, a former consultant. "As recent graduates, these women relate to and identify with collegians. When the program is added to their broad base of Fraternity knowledge, our collegians can't lose!"

The 1988-1989 consultants are the latest in the 30-year history of the Fraternity's chapter consultant program, which is funded by the Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation.

Three of them are returning for a second year, while the other 11 were selected in February from 36 applicants. Individual interviews were conducted at the Fraternity's national headquarters in Indianapolis by Central Office Associate Executive Director Nancy Frick and Sierk.

Following a two-week training session in late July, the consultants will hit the road, with several traveling from chapter to chapter the entire year. Nine consultants will be based at Theta's new colonies at the University of South Carolina and the College of Charleston; at recently installed chapters; or with chapters who need guidance.

The based consultants help establish rush procedures and select members; build pledge programs, budgets and by-laws; and help form cohesive pledge classes. Training new advisory boards and house corporation boards, working with university officials and sometimes even establishing Panhellenic organizations, if none exist, can also be part of the based consultant's job.

When a consultant travels, she spends about a week getting to know the members of the chapter she's visiting. She meets with each officer individually, as well as the chapter's advisory board and the campus Greek adviser. She also meets with each class in the chapter.

and works with the chapter to resolve them. After each visit, she files a report at Central Office, which national and district officers use to continue working with the chapter long after the chapter consultant has gone. Fraternity Central Office Executive Assistant Kelley Galbreath, a former chapter consultant, says that consultants occasionally encounter negative receptions when visiting chapters, because some collegians view the consultants as outsiders, there to tell the chapter what it's doing wrong.

Explains Galbreath, "They may think of the consultants as older people who have no way to relate to them. But they're recent college graduates who were in the collegians' shoes only a few months ago. When they arrive, the collegians are surprised. Consultants are simply Thetas who want to make friends and share new ideas, since the Fraternity is constantly evolving."

When visiting established chapters, the consultants stay as guests of the chapter and the Fraternity provides accommodations for based consultants. All chapter consultants are responsible for making their own travel arrangements.

The travel — packing and unpacking — can get tiring, but each consultant develops her own system to make the visits and the travel go smoothly. And the perks — the excitement of going new places and meeting new people — far outweighs any frustration.

Says Galbreath, "Although our chapters are located all across the U.S. and Canada, there is a strong tie that holds them all together. The consultants have the privilege of experiencing that tie first-hand."

In January and February of 1989—119 years after the founding of Kappa Alpha Theta—the Fraternity welcomed to membership 146 young women, as two new college chapters were installed and a third, with 100 years of Theta tradition, was reinstalled.

From the West Coast's Cal Poly in San Luis Obispo, to the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis, to Spartanburg South Carolina's Wofford College, it was a time for Thetas to celebrate.

Collegians and alumnae gathered together, sharing the joys of newfound sisterhood as well as the comfort of longtime friendship; learning for the first time the meaning of Theta's founding principles and cherishing, yet again, those words that have taken on new meaning through the years.

It was a time to look to Theta's bright future as the Fraternity opened three chapters in its proud history: Zeta Theta/California Polytechnic State University; Upsilon/University of Minnesota; Zeta Eta/Wofford College.

Zeta Eta Chapter Installed at Wofford

Although Zeta Eta Chapter—installed Feb. 11, 1989, at Wofford College in Spartanburg, S.C.—just recently affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta, this group of young women already has a three-year history.

The organization began in the fall of 1985, with eight women who “wanted an alternative to the present women’s Greek system at Wofford.” These women petitioned for group status on campus and began a service society called the Pi Delphians.

On May 5, 1988—after receiving approval from the administration and Wofford’s Panhellenic Council—the 28 women of the Pi Delphians were pledged to Kappa Alpha Theta. Following a summer rush workshop, the newly formed Zeta Eta Colony held a successful fall rush and pledged 17 women.

Since affiliating with Kappa Alpha Theta, the group has participated in many activities, including service, social and athletic events. The women donated turkeys and canned goods to Total Ministries last November; carolled at a nursing home and donated a “mitten tree” to needy families in December; and recently held an Easter egg hunt for abused children.

In addition to a busy social schedule, including several dances and formals, the women have also participated in Greek Games and the college intramural program. During Wofford’s Homecoming weekend, they were awarded the overall spirit competition award.

In spite of participation in numerous activities, Zeta Eta boasts the highest grade point average among the nine Panhellenic and Interfraternity Council organizations on campus. “This is a chapter that understands the three-fold purpose of the Fraternity,” explains Chapter Consultant Jennifer Clark. “These women believe in making a difference at Wofford College and understand that to be noble women, they need a balance of service, scholarship and high ideals.”

The newest chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta was installed with the help of Grand President Janet Peters, Grand Vice-President Development Sue Blair-Sheets, Executive Director Marcia Bond, Alumnae District President Anna Lemert, College District President Mallie King, College Regional Director Carol McPadden, Music Director Joyce Anne Vitelli, Director of Chapter Services Elizabeth Sierk, and Chapter Consultants Jenny Clark and Lynda Fairman. The chapter is also grateful to Delta Phi Chapter at Clemson University, and alumnae from Spartanburg, Greenville and Charlotte, for their assistance.

The chapter’s installation weekend began Friday, Feb. 10 with a loyalty service. The pledges were initiated Saturday morning, and the installation ceremony and banquet held that evening. Officers were installed at a model chapter meeting Sunday morning and, later that day, the new members attended a reception at which Panhellenic members and the college community met and welcomed the new chapter.

Founded in 1854, Wofford is a four-year Phi Beta Kappa college, affiliated with the United Methodist Church. It was recognized in a 1987 survey of college presidents, published by US News and World Report, as having the most outstanding humanities program of 161 Southern, liberal arts colleges. Wofford has also been recognized as an outstanding higher education value.

Zeta Theta Joins Growing Greek Community at Cal Poly

The brilliance of kites on the horizon overshadowed even the spectacular ocean view, as Zeta Theta Chapter celebrated not only its installation as the 115th chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta, but also the Fraternity's 119th birthday.

Zeta Theta was installed January 27 through 29 at California State Polytechnic University in San Luis Obispo, Calif. The new Theta chapter became the seventh women's group in a rapidly growing Greek community on the campus.

Record numbers of participants took part in formal rush on campus. The Theta colonization team interviewed nearly 200 women before selecting 80 colony members, who started on the path to Theta sisterhood in September.

Beginning a new chapter is a great challenge. Not only were these women faced with the task of learning the history, principles and ideals of Kappa Alpha Theta, but they also had to learn 80 new names and faces.

At times it seemed as if organizing the new chapter was like putting together a jigsaw puzzle with a few missing pieces. But it all fell into place after an all-chapter retreat, held two weeks before initiation. The Zeta Theta pledges headed for the Women's Club in Los Osos, Calif. to spend a fun-filled evening enjoying food, games, goal setting and a meaningful fireside chat.

The pledges discussed the meaning of sisterhood, and all left the retreat feeling very excited about their commitment to Kappa Alpha Theta. "To me, sisterhood is the special bond that develops as a result of the experiences one shares with others," said Pam de la Pena, one of the colony members.

Friday, January 27, Grand President Janet Peters arrived at Cal Poly with the installation team: Grand Vice-President Membership Jennifer Rova, Grand Vice-President Education Louise Geil, Alumnae Regional Director Wendy Worth, Music Director Joyce Ann Vitelli, College District President Vicki McCluggage and College District President Julie Keller. Attending from Central Office were Susan Kiley, assistant director of chapter services; Paige Thompson and Kelley Galbreath, administrative assistants; and Kim Rutledge, chapter consultant.

The Zeta Theta Chapter received its charter Sunday morning, January 29, 1989, and 66 women proudly signed their names. Thanks to the support of the San Luis Obispo Central Coast Alumnae Club and the Zeta Theta Advisory Board, the weekend celebration came to a close at a grand banquet with more than

Upsilon Recolonizes at Minnesota

Not since the 1950s had a women's fraternity successfully colonized or recolonized at the University of Minnesota. But the challenge was met by Kappa Alpha Theta, which began a successful recolonization of its nearly 100-year-old Upsilon Chapter last fall.

"Theta Leads the Way" was the theme for the October 9-12 recolonization rush, directed by dedicated alumnae who spent many hours generating names of prospective rush-ees, decorating the chapter house and making preparations. Building on the chapter's long-time Theta tra-

The women of Upsilon Chapter are truly taking the University of Minnesota by storm. They are excited about building their own chapter, but also are striving to improve the Greek system. Since pledging, they have been active on Panhellenic committees and, a few weeks after moving into the chapter house, were asked by 13 fraternities to bid for winter quarter social activities.

Alumnae—who played a vital role in the success of the recolonization—continue to support the chapter through its advisory board, house corporation board and the Slightly Older Sister (SOS) program.

Last fall, since there were no older college members of the chapter, dition, the recolonization team focused on scholarship, service and personal development in marketing Theta at the university.

Soon after formal pledging, members of the colony class moved into the chapter house. This, and two retreats held during pledgship, enhanced the unity of the group. Setting goals and getting acquainted with members of the class enabled them to more quickly understand the responsibilities of membership in Kappa Alpha Theta.

Minneapolis and St. Paul alumnae began serving as slightly older sisters to the colony class. Each pledge was paired with an alumna with whom she had common interests. In addition to formal pledging, pumpkin carving at Halloween and a Christmas party before finals, the SOS alumnae participated in the loyalty service and initiation. These relationships with such dedicated alumnae have made the colony class appreciate the importance of remaining involved with Theta after graduation.

Inspiration week was a busy, exciting time, which was highlighted the evening of the loyalty service by a dinner with Grand Council, NPC Delegate Lissa Bradford, Foundation President Marj Schnacke, Director of Membership Selection Marilyn Huseby, Executive Director Marcia Bond, Director of Chapter Services Betsy Sierk, and Tracy Bartels and Heather Hart, chapter consultants. We were so thrilled to have those we had learned about in pledgship join us during this happy time.

Grand Council's dedication was tested beyond belief when asked to travel to the below-freezing temperatures of Minneapolis in February. Never has a group of women given pha Rho from the University of South Dakota, and the local alumnae who helped make initiation such a memorable event.

The Founders' Day celebration, held February 4, reinforced the new initiates' understanding of Theta ideals. The weekend culminated with a model chapter meeting, the installation of officers and an open house in honor of the new initiates, attended by many parents, alumnae and members of the Greek system.

Upsilon is proud of its 100-year Theta tradition and is pleased that so many were able to share this grand and memorable weekend with the members.

Alpha Rho Assists

Alpha Rho Chapter at the University of South Dakota acted as the assisting chapter when Upsilon was installed Feb. 3. And we did just that: We assisted—helping out with initiation and wherever we were needed.

Traveling 5½ hours in the bitter cold to help a group of women we'd never even met may not sound like much fun, but every minute was worth it. One of the high points of the excursion was actually meeting and working with Grand Council. Those of us who made the trip came away realizing that Theta truly is for a lifetime, that all Thetas really do share the same knowledge, and that no matter how important one Theta is, she will always have time for her sisters.

Assisting with the installation was a phenomenal experience for Alpha Rho members: It made us feel that there was a little bit of Bettie Locke Hamilton in each of us.

MARLO

When I was about ten years old, Marlo Thomas was my role model. But I didn't know it.

All I knew was that I was entranced with Ann Marie, the lead character played by Thomas in the long-running television series "That Girl." I loved the way she laughed. I loved her energy and her attitude. I loved the way she looked. I wanted, simply, to be just like her.

I never dreamed I'd have an opportunity to meet Marlo Thomas. And, of course, I couldn't know then that she was a Theta. (At that time, I didn't even know what a Theta was!)

But, more than 20 years later, there she was. Sitting right across from me. Talking to me with that slightly hoarse, but ever so charming voice. That Girl. The dark, shining eyes. The lovely, warm smile. Yes, it was her. Again, I found myself wanting to be like her . . .

By Susan Holloway

Millions of American women have felt the way I do about Marlo Thomas. In the 1960s, her role in "That Girl" was the first portrayal of an independent, single woman living alone, ever to be featured in a television situation-comedy. Today, she continues to be an inspiration to women, men and children through her richly varied career as an actress, producer, social activist and lecturer.

Thomas' work in television, films and on the Broadway stage has brought her acclaim—with four Emmys, seven Emmy nominations, a Golden Globe and a Peabody award to her credit.

Many of her projects deal with issues of public concern. In 1985, she co-starred with Martin Sheen in the television film "Consenting Adult," based on Laura Hobson's novel about an American family coming to grips with their son's homosexu-

I wanted to be like my dad. I wanted to go out and make people laugh, and stand up on stage and have a good time, and not be the one at home who said, I wish I had, I wish I could, I wish I did.

ality. Thomas won her fourth Emmy for her performance as best dramatic actress of 1986 in the title role of "Nobody's Child." This television movie was based on the true story of Marie Balter, a woman who spent 20 years in a mental institution before overcoming her illness and forging a life as one of the country's leading mental-health care professionals.

Spurred by her concern for women and children, in 1974 Thomas produced and starred in "Free to Be . . . You and Me," based on her book, which was inspired by her niece Dionne. Her most recent book, "Free to Be . . . A Family," is a collection of stories, poems and songs, which celebrate the diversity of American family life. Published last November, it was the springboard to a 10-month project that culminated in a television special in which American and Soviet children "met" via television satellite link.

Thomas' involvement with social issues resulted in her being a member of two presidential commissions. She is a founding director of the Ms. Foundation for Women and Children, a member of the National Women's Political Caucus, and serves on the board of St. Jude Children's Hospital in Memphis, Tenn., which was founded by her father and specializes in treating catastrophic diseases in children.

Today, Marlo Thomas lives in New York City with her husband, television talk-show host Phil Donahue, and is one of the most sought-after speakers on the lecture circuit, delighting audiences with her speech, "From That Girl To This Woman."

In March, Thomas spoke—with characteristic conviction and humor—to an Indianapolis audience about her views on women and family; the challenges she and other women face; and some of the experiences that shaped her life, including how her Italian grandmother—a loving, free-spirited woman—helped give her the courage to be what she wanted to be.

Thomas grew up in the world of Hollywood, but in a close, "old-fashioned" family with her brother, sister, mother and famous father, comedian Danny Thomas. Following graduation from Mary Mount, a Catholic girls' school, she attended the University of Southern California (USC) where, in 1956, she was initiated into Omicron Chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta, and graduated with a B.A. in English.

In a personal interview with Marlo Thomas, she discussed her experiences as a Theta, some early influences in her life and her concerns for women.

What significance does Theta have for you?

I just loved being a Theta at USC. They were a wonderful four years. I was pledge chairman (educator) and I lived in the sorority house. My dear, dear friends were all Thetas. The girls I went to high school with all went to USC and became Thetas.

How did Theta influence you as an undergraduate?

It was where I got my first experience in drama, working in plays. It was actually my sorority sisters who pushed me into it.

We had a big show, a sorority/fraternity production, and had decided to do "Officer Krupke" from "West Side Story." We were all going to dress up like boys. Lena Horne's son, who was in a fraternity down the street, was going to be our choreographer and we were all very excited because he was very talented.

My generation of women are the least marrying of all, and the last and the least to have children. . . . I don't think that's the solution. . . . Our mothers gave up their careers and the marketplace for homes and families. Women of my generation gave up homes and families for careers and the marketplace. In the end, it's still too extreme. We have to find a way in which women — like men — can have both without guilt.

Well, we were all sitting around talking about who would be the lead guy. I was sitting there very innocently, just listening, and one of my sorority sisters said, Marlo should do it. And I said, Oh, no no, I can't do that. And they said, Yes, yes, you should do it. You're the one.

Anyway, we did it and it was a great success and we won sweepstakes prize. And afterward all my sorority sisters came around and said, Oh, boy, we wish we could own ten percent of you. They were very encouraging to me and really gave me a lot of support about getting up and performing.

That's terrific. Are you still in touch with them?

Yes, I'm in touch with my Theta friends. My sister was a Theta, also, after me. And then my niece Dionne went through rush a year ago at UCLA and she pledged Pi Phi. I really wanted her to be a Theta. I wasn't broken hearted, but I thought it would be great if she was a Theta. I was looking forward to going to her initiation . . . especially since I don't have any daughters of my own.

If you had a daughter who was headed off to college, would you encourage her to go through rush?

Well, I don't know what it's like now. It's been a zillion years since I was a Theta at USC.

For me, there was no other way. I was leaving a small girls' school with 30 girls in a class, and I graduated in a very protective atmosphere. For me to go to the University of Southern California and walk around campus with 13,000 students, well, I wouldn't

I was very spirited, and I had a good sense of humor. You know, I was always playing tricks on people and having a good time. My father said that I had one phrase that described everything in those years: Oh, daddy, it was a blast!

I was absolutely gung ho. It was thrilling for me to be out of uniform, away from the nuns and not living with my parents—even if I wasn't really on my own. I mean, I was living in a sorority, which was very strict. We had to be in at ten on school nights. And we had a house mother who was very much in charge. Clemmie Allen was a wonderful house mother and everyone just adored her. You could go into her room when you were nervous about something and she'd sit up and talk to you. She was just a very sweet, lovable woman—a mother to all the girls.

You have said that when you were growing up, few of your friends had the same sort of goals you had. Why?

I was just directed in a whole other way. My girlfriends in high school and college were really talking more about marriage and raising families, and were just guiding themselves in that direction. I always felt a little foreign in that way. I mean, I felt like I was living in another country or I was speaking another language. I liked them. I loved many of those girls. They're my best, dearest friends. I was in all their weddings, godmother to their children. But I felt a little foreign to what they were talking about.

I got pinned in, I think, my junior year, and when somebody told me that being pinned was engaged-to-be engaged, I almost had a heart attack. I didn't want to be engaged and didn't want to be married. I liked the romance of being pinned—the whole fraternity singing to you and all the fun and surprises—but I didn't even get married until after I was 40, so obviously I was in no way desirous of being engaged at that time.

He was a lovely guy, though. He converted to Catholicism for me. Then when we broke up he met a new woman and she converted to Catholicism for him. So I feel like I have two souls in heaven that belong to me! . . . But I broke it off when I was in my senior year be-

When my niece graduated from Mary Mount, where my sister and I also went, she asked me to give the commencement address. That was a very exciting experience to go back to my high school—where I practically got kicked out for chewing gum—and there I was, walking down the aisle with the Reverend Mother and passing out diplomas. In fact, I said in my commencement address that if anybody in my class, 30 years ago, had said I would have been the one who would be passing out the diplomas, they would have fallen over laughing. But here I am. And I'm having a good, good time doing things with my niece.

have been able to handle it. I was 17 years old when I went to college. I had worn a school uniform for 12 years, so I had never even dressed for school. I had never done anything that was the least bit independent.

I think that's what a sorority can do for young women. It can give them a small community of friends and people somewhat like themselves, a community to which they can belong. It gives you a chance—a leg up on some kind of family. We're all in search of family.

What were you like when you were initiated in 1956?

cause I knew I wanted to go to New York. I wanted to study to be an actress. I had my eye on going to London and being in plays. So you see I was outer directed.

You frequently speak about your grandmother and how she helped give you the belief that you could do anything. Is that how you developed your sense of self?

I think we are all born with a certain bent to our personalities. And then it's whether or not somebody does come along and inspire and encourage.

I also had a very encouraging father. I saw my mother as a person who had given up her career. My mother's a very loving mother and she wasn't sorry that she had a family; she loved her family. But she was sorry that she had given up her career. My father, on the other hand, was the happiest guy on earth. He was doing what he loved. You'd see him on stage, his eyes shining, perspiration gleaming on his brow. He was a man doing what he loved. I mean, it doesn't take a genius to figure out which of the people I would choose to role model.

I wanted to be like my dad. I wanted to go out and make people laugh, and stand up on stage and have a good time, and not be the one at home who said, I wish I had, I wish I could, I wish I did.

And all my life my father had always said, My kid's so great. She can this, she can that. When I was about 15 or 16 he used to give me scripts and he'd pay me something like $10 to read the script and give my opinion. And when I was very little, like about seven years old, my father made a couple of movies in a row with Margaret O'Brien in the summertime. I used to get up at six in the morning and go to work with my father for the whole summer! I was just fascinated by it.

One of my most endearing memories—of life with my dad and being the kid of a person in show business—was of driving over the mountain in the morning to Warner Brothers with my dad. He'd go into makeup and I'd walk around the stages and buy my apple from the apple machine with my dime. And we'd go to the commissary for lunch where everybody would be in costume: Somebody would be dressed like a vampire, somebody dressed like an elephant, somebody dressed like a gypsy dancer. I'd walk around the tables and because I was so small, nobody paid much attention to me. I could just go everywhere. And then I would sit on the lap of my father's director while the shooting went on. I'd sit right there—in a front row seat—and watch the whole thing!

It's difficult to get power in any field for anyone, especially women. And also, not a lot of women want to seize power. A lot of women are afraid that it's unfeminine, or that it's not possible, or that somebody will take it away from them, or that they really can't handle it. You know, it's like math anxiety: There's a power anxiety. Gee, can I handle all this power. Can I be the boss?

In the car I would run my father's lines with him. I'd play the Margaret O'Brien part, and my father would say, Oh honey, you do that great! You do that as good as Maggie does. It was a very exciting, positive experience and I wanted to be just like my dad and Margaret O'Brien. I had such a lot of positive reinforcement.

Gloria Steinem has said that you are among the few actresses who control your own professional life. Why is that so difficult and how do you do it?

It's a responsibility that many men and women don't want: To take hold of their own lives. And not only their lives, but also to be in charge of other people. No one in the world likes to fire anybody. It's the hardest part of owning your own business.

You have to have vision and have some direction for yourself. I don't really think that women have been taught to have five-year plans. I remember the first time a friend of mine said to me, What's your five-year plan? and I just couldn't imagine having one. But men, boys are taught to think about that. Women have had little relation to five-year plans because they have known instinctively through the years that their lives have so much to do with if they're going to be married, if they're going to have children, where their husbands are going to go with their jobs.

Many women's lives are very much decided by where their hus-

My girlfriends and women friends are not only my support system, but they really are my sisters. I am able to tell them my deepest fears. It's just good old-fashioned friendship, good old-fashioned sisterhood. I think the sorority is a place to learn that . . . Just as the sorority was founded to support women in a place that was hard to stay — for the same reason that women needed sisterhood then — we really need it now. bands are going to be. And their careers are not hobbies to them, but they're almost looked upon as hobbies—sort of a side dish to the main course, which is his life and his aspirations.

That has to change because otherwise it will discourage women from marrying and having families, which it has done to my generation. My generation of women are the least marrying of all, and the last and the least to have children. It was really wrong to have cut off those parts of our lives. I don't think that's the solution. I think it's too extreme. It's as extreme as my mother's generation, who gave up the flip side.

Our mothers gave up their careers and the marketplace for homes and families. Women of my generation gave up homes and families for careers and the marketplace. In the end, it's still too extreme. We still have to find a way in which women—like men—can have both without guilt. Men have so little guilt and women are just obsessed with it.

For example, when I leave home I'm always just a little bit worried that Phil is going to get everything he needs—that he'll have dinner and all that. He works very hard and I want him to be O.K., and so it's on my mind. But I don't think when he leaves town he wonders whether I'm going to have dinner.

What is your definition of a feminist?

I think a feminist is really a humanist. A feminist is a person who believes that men and women have an equal right to happiness and the world, and that no one—because of their sex—should be kept out of any arena; should be told that they aren't qualified because of their sex; should make less money because of their sex.

And I think a humanist also is the kind of person who cares about helping other people. I think women helping other women is important because we are the ones who really understand what it takes to make it in this world. And all the odds are against us.

Do you think there is a place for women's fraternities in the world today?

Oh yeah, I do. As I've said, I think it is wonderful to have a support system. It's necessary to have one. And I think it can be the beginning of the understanding of sisterhood.

I think that women sometimes get a very bad example from older women: that women are their competitors for the one big prize—the hunk, the man. I think it's very important to try to break that influence. And I think the more experience you have with women as sisters, the more it will enrich your whole life.

My girlfriends and women friends that I've had all of my life are not only my support system, but they really are my sisters. I really am able to tell them my deepest fears. And aside from getting support when I need it, it's just good old-fashioned friendship, good old-fashioned sisterhood. I think the sorority is a place to learn that.

The world is a very hard place for women. Just as the sorority was founded to support women in a place that was hard to stay in the early days of university life—for the same reason that women needed a sisterhood then—we really need it now. And we need to take that feeling of sisterhood out into our lives, into the future.

I think a feminist is really a humanist, a person who believes that men and women have an equal right to happiness and the world . . . Women helping other women is important because we are the ones who really understand what it takes to make it in this world.

Many Thetas would like to know: Did you fly the kite on "That Girl" because you're a Theta?

It was actually the producer's idea, but I was aware (of Theta) when I was doing it. The minute I saw it, I thought, Oh boy, the Thetas are going to love this!

Theta Connection Program

Have You Connected Yet?

The Theta Connection Program (TCP), established in 1982, is a career resource network, which connects job-seeking Thetas with professional Thetas. More than 3,000 Thetas have submitted career information for the international career data bank at Kappa Alpha Theta Central Office.

Theta Connection Program Directory

Theta sisters of all ages who are entering the job market or moving to new locales can use the TCP Directory as a networking resource. Many listings in this 1989 edition have new information, including company names, addresses and phone numbers.

Please keep in mind that TCP is not a job placement service, nor is it an advertising vehicle for individual Thetas' businesses. TCP is a career resource network designed to put Thetas in personal contact with other Thetas. It is one more link in the chain of sisterhood.

A Reminder

Theta Bylaws prohibit use of Theta lists for commercial purposes. The women in the TCP Directory have submitted information voluntarily to help other Thetas. It is very important that this service not be misused. It must not be used "for commercial purposes, for non-fraternal charitable appeals, for fraternal appeals or for the advocacy of personal opinions" (Rule XI, Section 1).

The TCP Directory Contains:

Professional Listings

Names are grouped by Occupation Categories. We have amended the categories in this 1989 edition to better reflect the diverse professions of our Theta sisters. Each listing begins with the computer code for the member's college chapter (See College Chapter Roster, below.).

The second line is the job title provided by the individual on the Career Data Form, followed by her name and address. Within each category, listings are clustered by zip code.

After finding desirable listings, it is up to you to make the connection with a personal letter. We advise you to also send a resume if you have one. A sample letter and suggestions for making successful connections are included in the Directory.

College Chapter Roster

Use the first three digits of the membership number to identify Thetas initiated in your chapter: another link.

Career Connectors

A local Career Connector in an alumnae chapter or club can provide personal contact in a specific locale. Her copy of the Directory may have additional listings. She can provide information about the local alumnae organization and its activities for professionals. She can help define metropolitan regions. Remember, it is not her role to find jobs, but to provide contacts and information.

Kappa Alpha Theta

A Place for the '90s

"Women have to take care of each other. There is safety in numbers."

This quote is from a 1989 speech by actress and social activist Marlo Thomas, Omicron/USC (See interview on page 17.) But it might have been said by Bettie Locke when she founded Kappa Alpha Theta Fraternity for women in 1870.

It is easy to romanticize Locke's founding of the first Greek-letter fraternity for women; to talk in proud generalizations of her pioneer spirit. But the world of Bettie Locke was a difficult place for women. The young men of that day didn't really want women sharing college life with them, except perhaps as mascots. Even the professors didn't feel women belonged there.

Locke and her friends were challenged at every turn. They wanted and needed the support and friendship of like-minded women to shore them up against the weight of ridicule and criticism.

It is certainly an understatement to say that the world has changed since 1870. Colleges and universities count among their increasingly diverse campus populations thousands of sophisticated, career-minded young women. The world of the approaching '90s is one of freedom and opportunity for women.

So, today—almost 120 years after Kappa Alpha Theta was founded—is there still a place for a women's fraternity?

Yes. Why? Because for all its change, the world can still be a tough place for anyone, including young women. And Kappa Alpha Theta still offers its members what it provided for Bettie Locke, Alice Allen, Hannah Fitch and Bettie Tipton: friendship and support.

It is true that what Theta encompasses today is far greater in quantity and complexity than in 1870. The Fraternity has kept pace with the times. In addition to supporting women in the pursuit of academic excellence and positive social and moral values, Theta provides educational programming on concerns ranging from date rape to AIDS to campus violence. It offers members formal networking possibilities and career guidance. And, through the Foundation, it provides thousands of dollars in scholarships annually.

But most importantly, Kappa Alpha Theta still offers women what it did our founders, who saw the benefits of spending time together for the pursuit of mutual goals. Women's roles have broadened and changed, but the role of Theta in our lives is much the same.

Today, women still look to Kappa Alpha Theta for friendship and support or, as Marlo Thomas calls it, "good, old-fashioned sisterhood."

Theta Membership Begins With Rush

When Bettie Locke first told her friend Alice Allen about her plans for a women's fraternity, Kappa Alpha Theta rush began. They soon shared their combined enthusiasm with two other college women, Hannah Fitch and Bettie Tipton.

Just like the rest of the world, rush has changed dramatically since those days. Today, Theta college chapters follow Panhellenic rules and formal schedules, create chapter profiles and list chapter priorities, feature songs, skits and videos.

But beneath the surface, the basics of rush remain the same: Talking to college women about the benefits of membership in a women's fraternity.

Membership in Kappa Alpha Theta is for a lifetime: from the exciting college years to young alumnae involvement to 50-year status and beyond. But it all begins with rush.

It is the challenge and responsibility of all Thetas to help our college chapters conduct a strong, honest, successful rush, to help ensure the future of Kappa Alpha Theta. Here's how you can help:

Collegiate Considerations

As collegians, you have the responsibility of selecting new members of Kappa Alpha Theta. Membership is a mutual selection process, with college Thetas deciding which invitations to issue and rushees deciding which to accept. Information provided by interested alumnae, in the form of recommendations, can be helpful in introducing these young women to your chapter.

It is up to you—the college women of Kappa Alpha Theta—to determine the needs of your chapter as well as those of the rushees; to set chapter priorities; to learn necessary rushing skills; to follow Panhellenic policies; to plan, organize and implement an effective rush.

It is your task to share with rushees the benefits of sisterhood in Kappa Alpha Theta. You can appeal to the best in today's college women. Be open and honest about standards and expectations of members. Welcome with friendship all rushees, and invite to membership those whose personal qualities seem most compatible with the goals and ideals of your chapter.

Alumnae Advice

Support to Theta collegians during rush comes not only in the form of "kitchen help" for rush parties, but also by talking about Theta membership to qualified young women entering college and recommending those young women to Theta chapters. (A recommendation form for your use is printed on the following page.)

Check with the college chapters to which you plan to send recommendations, as to their membership needs. If you're a rush recommendation board chairman (RRBC) or an authorized rush representative (ARR), contact Theta collegians in your city to see who they know from area high schools who would be qualified, prospective rushees.

As an alumna you can lend vital support during rush by offering your assistance to the rush adviser, or offering your home as a meeting place, and by writing notes of encouragement to the chapter. You can also support Theta college chapters by acting as a role model: serving as a chapter adviser or talking to collegians about your life path and your chosen profession.

These are all ways of demonstrating that Theta sisterhood is for a lifetime and that the principles of our Fraternity are worthwhile lifetime pursuits.

Write A Rec

Recommendation forms are available from Central Office or your local rush recommendation board. Or you may use the recommendation form printed in this issue on page 25. (If you need additional forms, please have the form copied at your local printer.)

Please send recommendations by July 15 for chapters with fall rush, and by August 15 for chapters with deferred rush. (See Rush Directory.)

Legacy Introduction Form

Complete this form and send it to the Theta chapter on the campus your legacy plans to attend. Please send it as soon as possible after your legacy makes her college choice. (See Rush Directory for college chapter addresses.)

Please remember that this introduction does not take the place of a recommendation.

Fraternalities and sororities are dangerously ill, and if they want to survive they must stick to a prescribed code of conduct and rigorous attention to public behavior. They can no longer do as they please and survive.

Because of the excesses of uncivilized behavior—the drunken brawls, the property destruction, the noisy late-night parties, the deaths from hazing, the accusations of gang rapes, and all manner of barbaric activities—fraternity chapters have been suspended on campus after campus; fraternity members have been expelled from many schools. And the entire Greek system—men's groups and women's groups—has been removed at several schools. Some colleges, emboldened by the experiences of Colby, Amherst, and others, have removed recognition. Franklin and Marshall College took the step this spring. Gettysburg College has passed by a vote of 63 to 23, a motion by the faculty to eliminate the system following a particularly stupid drunken party, which resulted in the hospitalization of several freshmen who had been required to consume huge amounts of alcohol. The story on this was a feature article in the New York Times for May 11. The front page of the Wall Street Journal for May 20 ran a story reporting on all the colleges that have recently banned the Greek system.

There is nothing new in the history of the Greek-letter fraternities and sororities to say they are in trouble. Trouble has stuck to the Greeks like cockle-burs ever since we were founded 212 years ago. In the beginning we were castigated and villified because we were student organizations, and in 1776 students were not supposed to have any original ideas or to think their own thoughts.

Many people do not realize that our first fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa, was founded as a social organization and remained a social group for the first 50 years of its existence. It also established many of the features of present-day fraternities—the Greek name, from the initials of the Greek motto; the oath of secrecy; a badge; a grip; an elaborate, initiation ceremony; a code of laws. Phi Beta Kappa also started the use of the word "chapter" to indicate new branches. We might draw some inferences from the fact that Phi Beta Kappa was founded in a tavern—the Raleigh Tavern—in Williamsburg, Va.

Greeks have always been imitators. Union College in Schenectady, New York, is called "Mother Union" because six of our earliest fraternities started there between 1825 and 1847. Three more were founded at Miami University in Ohio.

And when women were finally admitted to colleges, they wanted all the rights and privileges of the men—including fraternities. In 1867, at Monmouth College in Illinois, 12 young women started the first women's fraternity and called it I.C. Sorosis, which would later be Pi Beta Phi. Kappa Kappa Gamma began at Monmouth in October of 1870, thinking it was the first Greek-letter fraternity for women. They could not know that at Asbury University, now DePauw, Kappa Alpha Theta had begun in January of 1870. And at Syracuse University in 1872, ten young women started Alpha Phi, serenely confident that they had created the first women's fraternity.

If imitation is the sincerest form of flattery, all of us have spent a lot of time flattering each other, because we have traded customs back and forth, and ideas back and forth, until we are so similar we can hardly be told apart.

But we try so hard to be different, and to be unique, and to be original. We boast that we are the first to do this, or do that. It's sad, but true, my friends, that unless we do something about our groups very quickly, it isn't going to make any difference who did what when. We won't be around to talk about it.

Now I can hear you ladies already. You are saying, But it's the fraternities that are having the wild parties, and doing the hazing, and giving us all a bad name! Really?

On the campus of one of our lovely midwestern universities just this past year, a member of one of our NPC sororities was handcuffed to a stair railing in a fraternity house, stripped of her clothing, and left there after the members of the fraternity had written obscenities all over her body. How could this happen? She was too drunk to protest. And where were her sorority sisters who went to the same party? I wish someone would explain that to me.

The April issue of Newsweek on Campus has a seven-page article, complete with pictures, called "Fraternities under Fire." The sub-heading says, "At the height of their popularity, Greek organizations face charges of racism, violence, and hooliganism."

The front pages of the Florida newspapers recently have been covered with sensational stories about rapes at Stetson and Florida State University. Still other papers report on incidents in the California schools. The University of Texas has suspended two fraternities this year and promises more if hazing is not eliminated.

I don't intend to get into an analysis of why these things happen. I don't care whether they were caused by the lack of college control or too much college control, or because the drinking age is too high or because the drinking age is too low or because the young women at the party were drunk. I only care that they did happen and that such episodes are threatening the existence of the Greek system.

Recently the president of one of our men's national fraternities asked me a pointed question: Do your young women understand that they can put a stop to this almost immediately if they will simply refuse to go to parties where the fellows are serving alcohol? The men would quit because they cannot have their parties without women.

I made no reply to his statement because I am a very truthful woman. I would have had to say that the women don't want to put a stop to the drinking because they go to the parties to drink. All NPC groups forbid alcohol in their rush parties and social functions. So the women go to the fraternities to get swizzled. And the men know it.

I am not a blue-nose. I believe people have a right to enjoy alcoholic beverages. But after 50 years of being on a college campus—as a student, teacher, wife of an administrator, and fraternity officer—I have learned that students do not drink because they enjoy alcoholic beverages. They drink to get drunk. And then they behave like morons, destroying property, hazing, driving too fast, and killing themselves and others.

We must realize that it makes no difference to the general public whether we are getting a fair deal. Like Caesar's wife, we must be above reproach. We have to be twice as good, twice as circumspect, twice as refined as the next person.

And that's why we have incidents like the one at Rutgers University in February, when a freshman was hazed by being forced to consume huge amounts of alcohol at a pledge party—and he died. Or at a North Carolina University where a young man was sentenced to two years in prison for participating in the brutal beating of pledges. Or at a Pennsylvania College this spring when a wild fraternity party resulted in a chapter causing $70,000 worth of damage to its own house.

So far I haven't said much about hazing in our sororities. Fortunately the newspapers have not learned about some of the incidents that are making old women of your fraternity officers, but we may not always be so lucky. What is your opinion of a chapter that kidnaps its pledges, blindfolds them, and takes them miles from campus and abandons them with no money? Or what do you think of a sorority chapter that paddles its pledges—one so severely she had to be hospitalized.

And this happened this spring—in April or May—and was reported to me by one of the administrators of the college. A chapter of a highly respected women's fraternity was quietly closed by the national officers of the fraternity because of hazing: the women of the chapter were requiring each pledge to try cocaine before they would vote to initiate her.

While we are imitating, why aren't we imitating something admirable?

Somehow I don't think this is what the founders of our groups had in mind when they said they wanted to have a fraternity like the men.

The great majority of you attend schools where nothing alarming has happened, or is likely to happen. A few of you—and there are very few—have known of one or two episodes at your school. The newspapers make it sound, in their lurid accounts, as though the entire Greek system spends its time doing nothing but getting drunk and throwing wild parties. I have never been able to figure out when the Greeks are supposed to have time to go to class. The newspapers give very little space to the millions of dollars the Greeks raise for philanthropic projects, or the thousands of hours they spend working for charity. The Greeks can teeter-totter and bounce basketballs and paint houses for little old ladies and haul trash by the ton from city parks until they drop in exhaustion—but the newspapers ignore most of it. Furthermore, the general public does not take the time to differentiate between fraternity and non-fraternity students if trouble erupts on a campus. Nor does any one take the time to explain that there are local and national fraternities. No one cares. A student is a student and a fraternity is a fraternity.

That we have become, in the past 212 years, something other than discussion groups and debating societies, something more than literary clubs, has been a reflection of society, a development of the educational system. We were not founded to be philanthropic agencies. But now every single Greek organization has a large-scale philanthropic project that it supports. We were not created to be athletic leagues, but almost all of us participate in intramural sports and on many of our early campuses it was the Greeks who started the collegiate athletic programs. We were not established to be housing facilities, but now 60 percent of our Greek chapters own their own houses.

So it is hardly surprising that we have acquired some of the less attractive embellishments of collegiate life—such as excessive drinking. Drunkenness is hardly a modern-day characteristic. The Bible introduces us to it in Genesis 9 when Noah gets drunk on wine. I honestly do not think that fraternity people consume more alcohol than non-fraternity people, and I suspect that this could be proved if anyone took the time to make a survey.

But we must realize that it makes no difference to the general public whether we are getting a fair deal. Like Caesar's wife, we must be above reproach. We have to be twice as good, twice as circumspect, twice as refined as the next person.

I don't know when the idea was abandoned that we are responsible for each other. Probably at the same time that we abandoned the idea that we are responsible. We used to believe that there are consequences in life. If we misbehaved, we expected to be punished. Nowadays, some smart lawyer will find a loophole and get us off.

But life does have consequences. And one of them, unhappily, is that when the board of trustees, or the administration, or the faculty, or all three get fed up with outrageous behavior by one segment of the Greek community, the entire Greek community suffers.

It is the consequences in life that inspired the poet to write, centuries ago, one of the most poignant and touching verses in all literature:

"The moving finger writes, and having writ

Moves on: nor all your Piety nor
Wit

Shall lure it back to cancel half a Line,

• Nor all your Tears wash out a Word of it."

As women in sororities, we cannot control what the men do in their fraternities. But we can control what we do in our sororities . . . until we put a value on our own worth, until we establish our own self-esteem, we cannot expect others — particularly young men — to care what we want, what we expect, or what we deserve.

As women in sororities, we cannot control what the men do in their fraternities. But we can control what we do in our sororities—and we do not need to condone or encourage or aid or abet the barbaric behavior or uncontrolled conduct demonstrated at many fraternity parties. If liquor is served and no alternate beverages are served, we can go home. If our pledges are guests at the party, we can suggest to them that they go home—and we can keep an eye on them. We must know that our members are safe! If this sounds to you like a lot of snooping and prying—so be it. I believe the young woman who was handcuffed to the stair railing would have welcomed some attention from her sorority sisters.

And if a fraternity demonstrates its lack of discipline and its immaturity by excessive drinking and roughhouse conduct, we can refuse to accept further invitations from them. We do not need to associate with the members of an Animal House chapter.

Because, my young friends, until we put a value on our own worth, until we establish our own self-esteem, we cannot expect others—particularly young men—to care what we want, what we expect, or what we deserve.

I sincerely hope and trust that someday you will not have to look back at your college years with regret. I hope you will not have to say, "If only . . . If only I had done this, if only I had not done that."

If we lose our Greek system because of the conduct of our members, we will have only ourselves to blame. We have been warned repeatedly. We have had examples set for us at some fine schools. We know what the consequences are.

The moving finger writes . . . and all your tears shall not wash out a word of it.

Editor's Note: Special thanks to Betty Mullins Jones, Alpha Phi Sorority, and Phi Sigma Sigma Sorority, for permitting The Kappa Alpha Theta Magazine to reprint this article from Phi Sigma Sigma's magazine, The Sphinx. The text was taken from a speech presented at a 1988 Phi Sigma Sigma Convention Panhellenic Luncheon.

Jones is renowned in the Greek community for her contributions to the fraternity world. In 1986 she was awarded the College Fraternity Editor Association's highest honor, the Evin C. Varner Award. She has written many notable articles for the Alpha Phi Quarterly, and has worked for Alpha Phi on the international level for 30 years.

Joyce Drew Toombs

Kappa Alpha Theta mourns the loss of Joyce Drew Toombs, Delta/Illinois, who died in November 1988. Toombs served as a member-at-large of Grand Council for three terms, from 1976 through 1982. She previously served the Fraternity as an alumnae district president, as a member of the Tau Chapter Advisory Board and as president of the Evanston-North Shore Alumnae Chapter, of which she was a long-time member.

The Evanston-North Shore Chapter is in the process of collecting funds in memory of Joyce Toombs to establish an Educational Trust Fund, which will bear her name.

Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation

New ETF Scholarships Announced

Four scholarship trusts were established by members from the United States and Canada, or matured to an awardable level during the past year. These additions bring to 60 the number of separate trusts administered by the Board of Trustees as part of the Foundation's Educational Trust Fund.

Joyce Ault Cordon Scholarship

At the scholarship awards banquet at the 1988 Grand Convention, Joyce Ault Cordon, Beta Psi, recognized that despite the dramatic growth of the Educational Trust Fund in recent years, there was no scholarship designated for the members of chapters in Canada.

To fill this gap, Cordon created a fund for the benefit of sophomore, junior or senior members of Beta Psi Chapter/McGill University, Montreal; or members going to graduate school. Applicants need to demonstrate leadership qualities in the chapter and the campus community. It will be awarded for the first time at the 1989 Leadership Conference.

Ruth Robie Lacy-Rosemary Marcoux Longino

College and alumnae members from Florida and Georgia pooled their resources in a tribute to two members, Ruth Robie Lacy, Beta Nu, a former alumnae district president for District XVIII; and Rosemary Marcoux Longino, Beta Nu. "Roses" has served Atlanta as rush recommendation board chairman for 35 years and state chairman for 13 years.

The Lacy-Longino Scholarship is open to undergraduate and graduate students who are members of one of the six chapters in Georgia and Florida.

Bryan/College Station Alumnae Club

Members of Delta Omega Chapter/Texas A&M will benefit beginning this year from a scholarship fund created by members of the Bryan/College Station Alumnae Club.

Applicants are to be sophomores or juniors; seniors going directly to graduate school; or alumnae pursuing undergraduate or graduate degrees who have demonstrated high scholarship and service to their chapter or university. Preference will be given to applicants who have financial need.

Federation of Kappa Alpha Theta Alumnae in Southern California Honoring Janet Paine Peters

Although this scholarship fund is mature and awardable, Theta alumnae in Southern California chose to delay the award until Grand Convention in 1990, as a special tribute to Grand President Janet Paine Peters.

It will be available to undergraduate or graduate students, including alumnae who reside in Southern California.

Fellowship Supports Alumna's Career Move

Pat Martin, Gamma Iota, stayed at home for 15 years to raise her three children, after she graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1957.

Today, Martin has returned to the University to attend law school, with the support of a Kappa Alpha Theta Foundation Fellowship, and plans to establish her own law practice one day, perhaps with her son as a partner.

The road from changing diapers to facing tough law professors has been interesting and gratifying for Martin, who is proud both of her accomplished children and career.

After receiving her master's in educational psychology and counseling in 1971, Martin taught school for a year before beginning a career in corrections. She applied for a position as an inmate counselor at a new prison in Frankfort, Ky. "I had just received my master's and had all these great philosophies: I was ready to save the world," explains Martin. She spent 12 years working in various capacities for the Kentucky Department of Corrections before being named the first female warden of an all-male prison in Kentucky in 1984.

Foundation Fellowship recipient Pat Martin

The minimum-security, community-based prison went from 75 to 180 inmates in the 3½ years Martin served as warden. Under her leadership, a new dorm and support building were added; the facility was accredited, receiving the highest ranking possible; and the prison's budget moved into the black.

Despite her success, Martin decided to attend law school. Says Martin, "I'd like to focus on medical issues — surrogate parenting, the question of when life begins, DNA — because they are one of our last frontiers. There's a lot going on that I'd like to have a hand in."

Martin says she is motivated by strong values instilled by her parents. She also believes that Theta helped instill in her a sense of dedication.

Martin read about the $3,500 doctoral Fellowship in the Magazine and applied. "It was a tremendous honor and a wonderful opportunity for assistance with my schooling," says Martin, who accepted the award at the 1988 Convention. "It also means a lot to have this emotional support from Theta."

Theta Profile

When Kirsten Hanssen began running, her junior year at the University of Colorado, she appeared to be much like many young women with whom she attended class, shared friendships and enjoyed college life. Bright, attractive and hard-working, she was looking for a way to get back in shape.

"I was just a jolly jogger," exclaims Hanssen.

Six years later, the jolly jogger is an elite athlete: the top woman in the world of the triathlon, a grueling, endurance sport that features three events — usually swimming, biking and running.

The 27-year old Beta Iota alumna — whose sunny face and sinewy body have appeared regularly in such publications as Sports Illustrated, Runner's World and Triathlete Magazine — has dominated the triathlon sport for the past two years. Her accomplishments in the sport are remarkable. She was the first woman ever to win the United States Triathlon Series (USTS) championship twice; the first triathlete to win two triple crown triathlons in one year; the 1988 winner of the World Triathlon Championship in Nice, France; and Triathlete Magazine's 1987 Female Triathlete of the Year.

But equally impressive is how Hanssen has influenced the sport, simply by being herself — by running her own race. The wholesome, born-again Christian is known for winning and losing graciously, and for crossing the finish line with a grin. She is credited with bringing to the sport a new-found sense of propriety by attending awards banquets well-dressed and immaculately groomed. And, without hesitation, she happily credits her success to her upbringing and to God.

Hanssen entered her first race "just for fun" in 1983 in Wichita, Kan., where she lived with her parents (Her mother, Suzanne, is also a Beta Iota alumna.) from third grade until she went off to college in Boulder.

"It was really a blast!" recalls Hanssen, characteristically enthusiastic. "I liked the variety of sports, and winning the race didn't hurt either. I talked to a lot of people who had won races and got keyed on it."

About a year after she graduated magna cum laude from CU, Hanssen competed in her first pro division triathlon in Denver, where she worked for Public Service Colorado as a computer programmer. She placed fifth in the July 1985 Denver Bud Light USTS, ahead of several pros. Two weeks later, the momentum of her astonishing initial success was slowed somewhat by stress fractures in both legs, which forced her to take six weeks off.

But Hanssen continued to ride and swim, and she returned for the 1986 season, more determined and better than ever. She raced and won frequently, making a name for herself on the USTS national tour

This champion is a lady: Theta Kirsten Hanssen has brought her own sunny attitude and a spirit of graciousness to the world of the triathlon, a demanding sport that features swimming, biking and running.

(Each race in this series includes a 1.5 kilometer swim, a 40 kilometer bike ride and a 10 kilometer run: the recognized international distances for a women's triathlon.) while still holding down her full-time job.

Hanssen completed her 1986 season with a victory at the national championships at Hilton Head Island, S.C., where she received $4,000 for her first-place finish and where she first began to consider competing as a pro.

In 1987 she gave up her job and accepted an invitation to race in Perth, Western Australia. "It took a leap of faith," remembers Hanssen. "I was just really excited to try what for most people is just a fantasy or a dream — to travel as a professional athlete. I thought if it only lasted a month, it would be worth it to try. And, by the grace of God, it has lasted a few years."

In just over two years, Hanssen's pro triathlete career has gone from one with virtually no security to one of consistent success, backed by sponsors that include Timex, Mr. John Du Pont's Team Foxcatcher and Veltec-Boyer Sports. In 1987, she earned more than $100,000 in prize money and endorsements.

But the risks are still there. "The money for some races is really good," explains Hanssen. "But some barely cover your expenses. You're really putting all your eggs in one basket because the big competitions that pay well are also the long events. The chance of something going wrong — like a flat tire or a difficulty with transitions — is greater."

Hanssen covers her bets well. In 1987, she raced 22 times — unheard of for women triathletes — winning 16 competitions and placing second in four. One weekend she even won back-to-back triathlons: barely making it to the Atlanta airport in time to catch her flight to Columbus, Ohio.

It is those kinds of accomplishments — that sort of energy and commitment — that amazes those who know the sport. She is described as a "true champion" for reasons that may have more to do with her attitude and spirit than her extraordinary raw talent.

Hanssen can come back from an off day — from defeat — and win again. "I don't let things bother me. There are always ups and downs. I just keep moving forward," she says. And she can win even in the face of tremendous adversity, such as her victory at the Nice World Championships in France, reported by Triathlete Magazine in Feb. 1988:

She'd been sick the week before the triathlon, and on race day, her legs cramped up so badly at the start of the bike portion that she was unable to get her legs around to turn the crank. Hanssen coasted, drinking Exceed in hopes that the electrolyte replenishing fluid would help ease the tightness in her legs. Finally, the cramping lessened, but not before Hanssen lost minutes to the lead woman.

Hanssen poured it on during the second half of the bike, and she ran down Colleen Cannon 55 minutes into the run. Hanssen then took the lead, but Cannon, who had won the race in 1984 and knew the course well, was never far behind. Hanssen ended up winning by just 35 seconds . . .

At the 1988 Iron Man triathlon, held October 22 in Kona, Hawaii, Hanssen competed in her first ultra-distance race (2.4 mile swim, 112 miles cycling, 26.2 miles running). She finished a credible third — the first American to finish — despite the fact that she had never run a marathon before and that she was competing with a cast on her arm, the result of a car turning into her bike while training.

Hanssen is also known for pushing her limits, even when she already has a race won. It seems that she just can't stop! "I get a kick out of meeting challenges, and sports is an excellent way to do that," explains Hanssen. "When you do it, it's one of the most wonderful feelings. Not something to boast about, but it helps make you a stronger person."

The bike portion of the triathlon is Hanssen's best event. When training she rides an average of 324 miles per week.

Her advice for those who compete is also sound advice for living. She recommends, "Take one step at a time and have fun. Enjoy the people and the experiences. And don't put too much pressure on yourself."

Despite her easygoing attitude, Hanssen works hard, both at training and competition. Every day she trains in two, sometimes three, sports, plus some strengthening work. In an average week, Hanssen swims about 8 miles, bikes 324 miles and runs 50 miles. Beyond that, she says, "I try to get a little massage, some rest and lots of food. Last night, I ate a whole large pizza by myself!"

Hanssen is the first woman to approach the triathlon as a full-time career, competing in more than 20 races annually. She says she is usually pretty relaxed before competition. "I feel like I've got a good workout ahead of me," she says. "Then when I'm competing, I just concentrate. There's something of a struggle going on, against yourself and against the elements, but when I'm in a race mode I don't feel a lot. I just try to race my own race and relax."

The accomplishment of finishing a race brings Hanssen exhilaration, but also a sense of privilege for the right to compete. "The real thrill is participating in the entire event with all kinds of great people — from the first finisher to the last — including 70-year olds, people with one leg and all the volunteers."

Hanssen views her accomplishments matter of factly. "God's given me a lot of talent that I want to use to the best of my ability," she says. And although she attributes her success to her faith and her family, Hanssen says that Theta also has been a positive influence in her life. "In college, it gave me a camaraderie with all different kinds of people, and helped me learn to accept others with different ideas. Theta is grounded on solid values that bring people back to a spiritual bond," she says.

Hanssen tries to participate in Denver Alumnae Chapter activities, but admits that she has little time for anything beyond training and competing. This year, however, has already brought some new interests into Hanssen's life, including her engagement at Easter. "At 14,000 feet, he got down on his knees and asked me to marry him," exclaims Hanssen.

Looking to her future, Hanssen says she would love to participate in the 1992 Olympics in Barcelona, Spain, at which the triathlon may be a sport, probably an exhibition event. Says Hanssen, "Just the chance to shoot for it is exciting."

After 1992, Hanssen hopes she'll be able to capitalize on her athletic accomplishments and says that although she will always be involved in sports, she sees herself becoming, "a housewife, just normal."

Perhaps Hanssen will go back to being the jolly jogger. But, then again, maybe she always has been.

January 27, 1989, Heidi Withers was initiated into Alpha Iota Chapter at Washington University in St. Louis, Mo., with her mother, Margo Helm Withers, Alpha Iota 1961, left; and grandmother Margaret Myers Helm, Beta/Indiana 1932, present. Heidi, who was president of her pledge class, is a fourth generation Theta with a large Theta heritage. In addition to her mother and grandmother, her great-aunts Mary Isabel Myers, Beta 1926; and Marjorie Helm Swigert, Tau/Northwestern 1934, are also Thetas. Heidi's great grandmothers, Maud Showers Myers, Beta 1895; and Margaretta Nutt Helm, Alpha/DePauw 1898, were Thetas also.
